Road Warrior // Stephen Ross, Related Companies

Current Role: Chairman, CEO and founder, Related Companies; majority owner, Miami Dolphins

Based: New York City

Days Spent on the Road: Ross travels 70 days each year. Related Companies has offices in New York City, Chicago and Shanghai, and Ross heads to Florida for every Miami Dolphins home game.

Street Cred: The high-flying real estate guru founded Related Companies in 1972, and today the firm owns real estate assets valued at more than $15 billion. Ever visit the Time Warner Center in Manhattan? That's a Related property. Or how about 840 North Lake Shore Drive in Chicago? That's Related, too. And so is the World Market Center Las Vegas. When he isn't masterminding mixed-use real estate deals or cheering on the Miami Dolphins, Ross serves as a member of the board of trustees of the Guggenheim Foundation and is a trustee at Lincoln Center and the New York-Presbyterian Hospital. —Jason Oliver Nixon

Not only do they put on great exhibitions, but the building itself is a work of art. Stop at The Wright restaurant for a great meal and to experience its contemporary design. guggenheim.org
